1. Background

Built in 1860, this breathtaking historical landmark was originally a functioning railway workshop designed in the iconic Colonial architechure style.

In 1986, the building was transformed into South Africa's first themed shopping centre, with the original iron girders that soar up to the vaulted glass roof, now providing the framework for this truly majestic shopping centre.

Today, The Workshop is a heritage site and the only shopping centre in Durban's vibrant CBD.
